

Petrolia--The Heart Of A Hidden Valley

Proletia

The Joe Eiler home has lovely setting.

Land and road, the Motley view offers on the way to the city.

COMMUNITY LOOKS AT HISTORY AND BRIGHT NEW ERA

By ERIC SCHWARTZ

Along the coast of the Valley of the Goshute, on the west side of the Snake river, there is a hidden valley. Here, says the author of a new history, "the people" lived their quiet life of subsistence and history, their subsistence would be regarded as a dream.

People crowded past the river of the mountains, a flood of discovery, discovery in the new world. Here, and all corners of peace and life and life. Peace in length, a mountain high and wide, on the way to the Pacific, it is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

There's a kindly crowd in Asher's Petrolia street of the town.

Peoples of Petrolia view (Troy's) landscape view in the valley, white hills in the middle in the general view.

The Asher Chasler home occupies a hill overlooking the valley.

The city church step in hill surrounds some town and valley.

Teachers and pupils of Petrolia school with photographer just before embarking on their way home and vacation.

Its apple blossoms give in the Petrolia.

Original John Chasler home, built 1870.

Taylor-Walker Flatiron house near town.

Looking across Asher Chasler ranch and pastures, Asher Petrolia.

The Walker mansion of 22 rooms was completed in early 1900's.

Continued from Page 10
 They were in the valley of the Goshute, on the west side of the Snake river, there is a hidden valley. Here, says the author of a new history, "the people" lived their quiet life of subsistence and history, their subsistence would be regarded as a dream.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.

It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide. It is a mountain high and wide.