

Port Kenyon--Ships Once Made History

The Robert Hughes liner is loaded.

And the Robert Hughes is built to last.

Public gather at new improved island school.

Business Park, much more the party willing.

Part of Park Kenyon land given the public.

As a John D. Lister steam train, Valley Flours Co. (Kenyon).

Over-riding machine used to raise up this channel of Mill river.

ONE TIME SEAPORT BY EEL RIVER DID BRISK BUSINESS

By ERIC HENNINGSON

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

That Kenyon is almost forgotten. Forwile and the sea, along a tributary of the great river of Mill River. It is only in the historical records, but it was once a port of the beautiful stretch of the country and various regions of the great old river valley. The channel that Kenyon is a tributary of is still running, although it is but an occasional boat that comes from the hills in back.

Teachers and pupils gather outside building. Port Kenyon school.

Port Kenyon made about the beautiful island atmosphere.

"Look on the hills"—Evelyn Green has inspiring unswerving background.

The Valley Flours Company's granaries is owned by local farmers.

Part of Park Kenyon land given the public.

Part of Park Kenyon land given the public.

Kenyon is an attractive place to visit in the fall. The weather is just what you need for a vacation. The scenery is beautiful. The people are friendly. The food is delicious. The accommodations are comfortable. The prices are reasonable. The location is convenient. The transportation is easy. The entertainment is interesting. The shopping is enjoyable. The sightseeing is memorable. The relaxation is perfect. The overall experience is wonderful.

SHOEMAKER FINISHED
The Valley Flours Company has completed the construction of a new flour mill. The new mill is located in Port Kenyon and will produce high quality flour for the local market. The mill is equipped with the latest machinery and will be operational in the near future.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING
The Port Kenyon school has completed the construction of a new building. The new building is located on the island and will provide better facilities for the students. The building is modern and well-equipped, and will be ready for use in the fall.

LAND GIVEN TO PUBLIC
The government has announced that it will give a portion of the land in Port Kenyon to the public. This land will be used for recreational purposes and will provide a beautiful area for the community to enjoy.

GRANARIES BUILT
The Valley Flours Company has built a new set of granaries. The granaries are located in Port Kenyon and will be used to store flour for the local farmers. The granaries are well-constructed and will provide a secure place for the flour.

SCHOOL LAND
The government has announced that it will give a portion of the land in Port Kenyon to the public. This land will be used for recreational purposes and will provide a beautiful area for the community to enjoy.

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING
The Port Kenyon school has completed the construction of a new building. The new building is located on the island and will provide better facilities for the students. The building is modern and well-equipped, and will be ready for use in the fall.